In addition, make sure your volunteer paperwork is up to date. Thank you!

TIME FOR KIDS

In Thursday Folders this week I sent home the first TFK magazine with comprehension homework. We are lucky enough to have this resource donated to our classroom this year as a way to keep kids informed about the world around them. I believe cultural literacy and maintaining an understanding of current events are of utmost importance as we develop this next generation of leaders. From here on out, expect a new TFK magazine every Thursday. This will be the weekly reading homework for their fourth grade year. The associating worksheet will be due the following Thursday, but kiddos are welcome to keep the magazine at home (some like to start a collection). Enjoy!

Ask Me What I Learned in 4th Grade!

Social Studies

- Ask me about the ThingLink we will be creating! ... despite some technical difficulties
- Ask me how I will use this resource to demonstrate everything I have learned about energy so far
- Ask me what potential energy is
- Ask me what kinetic energy is
- Ask me to explain some forms of energy to you

Reading Core

- Ask me to tell you some characteristics of poetry
- Ask me what imagery is
- Ask me to read a poem with you and discuss that poem's imagery

Math

- Ask me about the first math assessment I had this week
- Ask me about my strengths and weaknesses on this assessment
- Ask me to tell you one "ah-ha" moment I had during test corrections/test review in class

Writing

- Ask me about the personal narrative I'm writing

Guided Reading

- Ask me what text evidence is
- Ask me why text evidence is important when creating a response to reading
- Ask me about the Eclipse book we read this week... what is one interesting fact I learned?
- Ask me to read the Eclipse book to you on Miss Schuller's Google Classroom
